Monthly Report – April 2025

Portfolio Manager Comment

All the focus during the month has been on the possible trade war that could break out between the US and the rest of the world. On April 2nd, Trump declared "Liberation Day" during a speech in which he explained his new tariffs with the help of a large piece of cardboard. All the countries and territories of the world except Russia received a tariff rate calculated on any trade surplus with the US. After backlash from China in particular, the tariffs that were around 25% and above for many countries have been adjusted down to 10% except for the Chinese. The equity and credit markets reacted strongly at the beginning of the chaos but have recovered, even though the 10% tariffs that now apply to trade with the US are high above the levels that have been in recent decades. The chaos that has prevailed during the month has also sent Swedish interest rates down across the entire curve, and the market now expects a further interest rate cut from the Riksbank in 2025. The Swedish four-year swap rate is down from 2.61% to 2.23%.

Credit spreads spiked at the beginning of the month, with investment grade index peaking at 86-88 basis points intraday and the high yield index peaking at around 420 basis points intraday. A clear recovery followed, with both investment grade indices ending the month at around 67 basis points with a spread widening of 2-4 basis points. The European high yield index ended the month at 344 basis points with a spread widening of 10 basis points.

Investment Goal and Strategy

The fund is a global corporate credit fund denominated in Swedish Kronor. The fund invests in both Investment Grade and High Yield, with a minimum of 50% rated investment grade. The fund targets highly liquid exposure in European and North American credit, whilst keeping both currency and interest rate risk in Swedish Krona.

To this end credit exposure is assumed via index-based centrally cleared Credit Default Swaps (CDS). The Reference Indices of the CDS contracts are Itraxx Europe Main and CDX Investment Grade or High Yield North America. The exposure to each issuer is equally weighted, ensuring a well-diversified portfolio.

The fund takes positions that eliminate its exposure to companies that do not meet the sustainability requirements set up by Captor. The fund is classified as Article 8 according to the Disclosure Regulation.
